

NAME _____

-
- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Secretary of State John Hay sent his Open Door Notes (1899–1900) to world powers to <ul style="list-style-type: none">A) keep Chinese workers from coming to AmericaB) secure a fair settlement in the Russo-Japanese WarC) protect United States trading interests in ChinaD) bring a peaceful end to the Boxer Rebellion 2. In the early 1900s, the United States proposed the Open Door policy to <ul style="list-style-type: none">A) gain new colonies in the PacificB) win support for building the Panama CanalC) improve relations with EuropeD) secure access to markets in China 3. The United States issued the Open Door policy (1899—1900) primarily to <ul style="list-style-type: none">A) bring democratic government to the Chinese peopleB) secure equal trade opportunities in ChinaC) force China to change its immigration policiesD) use China as a stepping stone to trade with Japan | 4. The establishment of the Open Door policy (1899-1900) and the response to the Boxer Rebellion (1900) showed that the United States wanted to <ul style="list-style-type: none">A) curb Russian expansionB) gain access to Chinese marketsC) build factories in the Far EastD) limit Asian immigration to the United States 5. A primary reason for the establishment of the Open Door policy (1899) was to <ul style="list-style-type: none">A) protect United States trade in the Far EastB) gain control of the Panama Canal ZoneC) encourage Chinese immigration to the United StatesD) improve relations with Russia |
|---|---|
-